

VANITY FAIR - Volume XXVI

“A Weekly Show of Political, Social, and Literary Wares.”

Issues published in the half-year, from July 2, 1881 to December 31, 1881.

Cartoons and selected excerpts

6. Aug. 6, 1881.

STATESMEN—No. CCCLXVII

“Earlie” by Ape

The Earl of Clonmell

JOHN HENRY REGINALD SCOTT, VISCOUNT CLONMELL AND BARON EARLSFORT, is better know as “Earlie.” He was born forty-two years ago. He soldiered in the 1st Life Guards, and he is a representative Peer of Ireland. In Ireland indeed he lives for the greater part of each year, and with all the more comfort that he is reputed a most liberal landlord, and one of the few who are on good terms with their tenants ; yet his establishment in Ireland is entirely English. He is a Conservative, but he occupies himself more with hunting (without jumping) than with politics He makes no pretence to soar to those supreme intellectual heights where so many lose themselves ; but he is an excellent good fellow, always cheerful and often convivial ; and he dresses in a style of subdued smartness which excites the admiration of younger men. He has no enemies, and is a sworn friend of himself.

JEHU JUNIOR

VANITIES.

Superintendent Dunham, the popular police superintendent of Slough, who was thrown from his horse on the day of the Windsor Review, is better.

* * * * *

Mr. Gladstone is likely to bring in a Bill for the better regulation of the aesthetic movement. On Wednesday last he took tea with Mr. Burne-Jones.

SIR F. ROBERTS' LIBERALITY.

To the Editor of "Vanity Fair."

Sir,—Will you please ascertain if it is true that Sir Frederick Roberts spent all his £12,500 at Eton the other day, standing treat to the boys there. It is said in India by other Eton boys that he intends to spend his small tip thus. All Eton boys I have met feel much offended at the idea of such a small tip being offered to one of our Big Boys ; it is enough to make any boy sulk to think about it, and we hope he will toss Lord Hartington for it double or quits, until he either loses it or runs the figure up to £50,000 at least. I hope he will receive this hint before he has lavished all the money in Bath buns to other boys.

AN ETON BOY IN INDIA

Vincent Brooks, Day & Son, Lith.

"Earlie"